Dale A. Jorgenson was born on a farm near Litchfield, Nebraska in 1926. He and his two sisters grew up in a loving home. His education was: B. Mus., Harding Univ.; M. Mus., George Peabody Coll. of Vanderbilt Univ.; Ph.D., Ind. Univ.; Cert. in Arts Adm. Harvard Summer School. Part-time study was: Colorado College, Southern Baptist Theological Sem., U of K. In the military world Dale was Chaplain's Assistant in the 20th Air Force, Guam, WW II.

For over 60 years his faithful wife/companion, Mary Lee Strawn, holds him up in great esteem and support. Their five children bring great respect and love to their lives, as well as ten grand children.

Dale has been a professor in KY, TX, W VA, TN, MO, and in the U.K. colleges and universities. While in the ministry he has served churches in AR, KY, IN, MO, W VA and TN. Publications and Books written by Dr. Jorgenson number at least seven. Other journal articles and poems appear in over six publications. A favorite book Dale and Mary Lee co-authored for his children and grandchildren was How It All Came About ---supreme! Dale is an avid speaker with invaluable knowledge on many subjects.

For several years Dale, Mary Lee, and Dale, Jr. have joined us at Woodland and been a blessing in our musical praise. Sept. 11 a.m. Dale is to speak on "Barton W. Stone: Maverick Apostle of Unity," weaving in "Encouraging Words for Discouraging Times".

Buford Smith, home for forty-one years in Dugger, IN, has been busy serving His Lord along with Maude Borders Smith, his wife for over fifty years. Teaching, preaching, counseling, writing, and prison ministries have been spiritual emphasis in Buford's life. Along with this he had also "battered the bread on the table for his large family" with contract house painting, home repair and construction jobs, worked for Gulf Oil and Bundy Tubing in Winchester, KY.

Jennings, Louisiana was a great place to grow up along with his five siblings. Buford attended Portland Christian School (Louisville, KY) which wetted his desire to later attend Southeastern Christian College. (All six of the siblings attended KBC/SCC.) Realizing the importance of education he later earned his BS, MS, ED.S Degrees from Indiana State Univ.

Joys in Buford and Maude's union include four children, seven grandchildren, and two great grand-children. It's no wonder "Happy is the man that has his quiver full of them." (Ps. 127) Men, come meet together for encouragement in the "Share time" on Tuesday morning with Buford.
